

DS DIFFH FABRICATED DIFF HOUSING

Thank you for purchasing a Di Filippo fabricated diff housing.

Please note that these are supplied in raw form, due to the fact that the finishing work must be carried out by the owner or a qualified fabricator. (Such as axle ends, arm mounts etc). The diff housings are delivered with a coating of oil to prevent any rust. This must be removed before any welding or painting is done.

Due to the nature of the product, mainly for high horsepower/drag race applications, we can only guarantee the workmanship that we have done. The product can not be returned once it has been modified in any shape or form. This includes cutting, welding, heating or painting. Suitable bracing and bracketry must be fabricated with consideration to the horsepower output and application of the vehicle.

We take no responsibility AT ALL for any work carried out after the product has left our factory.

Please note with all our products if the customer changes his/her mind they are welcome to send the parts back within 7 days, however freight must be paid each way by the customer.
